

GREAT STRIKE GETS STARTED

Nonunion Miners In Bituminous Field Are First In The Gigantic Struggle.

MEN NOT YET FULLY ORGANIZED

Workmen Who Have Held Places Without Being Affiliated With The Union, Are Declared To Be Loyal
To That Body.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Pittsburg, Pa., Feb. 8.—The threatened strike in the bituminous coal fields in western Pennsylvania broke out Wednesday night in the quarter least expected. A message from Du Bois says all the miners of the Clearfield and Jefferson Coal & Iron company, operating at Yatesboro, Helvetia and Sykesville, were ordered to throw down their tools after every effort to effect a settlement of the wage question had failed.

The order affects 10,000 miners, 2,000 railroad men and 500 shop men. At railroad offices here notice was received that there would be no further shipments of coal until the trouble was settled.

The men who are out declare they will not return to work until the bituminous miners of the country as a body settle the question of a wage scale.

Men Are Unorganized.

The bituminous miners in the Du Bois district are not fully organized, although they have been working largely under union auspices. No more loyal body to the union cause, however, can be found in the ranks of unorganized miners in western Pennsylvania.

Every hour develops greater seriousness in the situation. A dispatch from Johnstown indicates that the great body of bituminous miners there are ready and eager for the inevitable fight. William Curran, president of the miners' organization in that district, said:

"I believe and expect the miners will strike all over the country on April 1. I hold this view because both sides of the Indianapolis conference left that session determined to fight rather than compromise the issues dividing them. The miners feel that with the coal prices averaging from 30 to 50 cents a ton higher than several months ago, with the tremendous demand for coal everywhere, with the steel business enjoying a boom such as never has been known before, and with the present unparalleled prosperity of the country generally, they are entitled to a share in the good times to the extent of their demands. I know they will fight rather than yield."

National Vice-President T. L. Lewis said that he had received instructions from President Mitchell on how to deal with the controversy of the miners in Pittsburg No. 5, but had sent for further clearer statements.

Wednesday's meeting of the convention, like the three preceding, was one of disorder and bitterness. Repeated resolutions in one form and another were offered, all having for their object the removal of President Dolan and Vice-President Bellingham, were refused recognition by the chair and declared out of order. Mr. Lewis remained passive at the convention until called to bolt the convention were raised, and then said:

"I have reason to assume that you represent at least 25,000 miners of western Pennsylvania. You can afford to be calm and deliberate in everything that you do. If you left this hall, and elected another presiding officer, it would be unconstitutional, and the national executive board would have to decide against such action."

"He reminded the delegates that harmony was absolutely essential now, in view of the developments that April 1 may bring about."

STRONG RESOLUTION PASSED MEETING

Gathering of Farmers at Madison
Brings About Strong Resolutions.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Feb. 8.—Representative farmers, stock raisers, horticulturists and men of allied interests, in convention here, have adopted vigorous resolutions demanding reciprocal treaties between this and other countries, and a thorough revision of the tariff schedules so that the farmers' markets will be extended and so that the tillers of the soil in America can get the benefits of the lower prices that reduced tariff rates and increased competition will bring. The resolution regarding revision is as follows:

"We demand a revision of the tariff schedules consistent with the protective principle, yet with such reductions of rates that the tariff should not afford a shelter for monopoly, trusts and combines. We demand national legislation that will give the best possible market for American agricultural products and that will offer opportunities to the farmers of the country to purchase goods such as they consume in markets that are not trust-borne, combination-made or controlled by monopoly. It is a great disadvantage to the American farmer that whatever he sells is subject to the law of competition and whatever he buys is generally subject to the unjust law of combination and monopoly. We demand national legislation for the supervision by the interstate commerce commission of transportation companies, and that said commission be invested with power to establish rates that shall take effect when established."

It is urged that all the farmers of the state of Wisconsin who agree with these resolutions write personal appeals to their senators and representatives in congress to get them to work and vote for the carrying out of the spirit of these demands. The only suggestion of opposition to these resolutions came after the discussion, when President George McKerron, president of the state board of agriculture, said to a friend that, as the owner of a large tract of timber land, he was satisfied with the present tariff on Canadian lumber.

SUCH A TURNDOWN FOR A GRAND DUKE!

Pretty Young Miss from Paris Snubs
Nicola at Roulette Table in Casino at Nice.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Paris, Feb. 6.—A story comes from Nico to the effect that the Russian Grand Duke Nicola was strongly attracted recently by the charms of a beautiful young Parisian lady at the roulette table in the casino. After trying in vain to draw her attention he whispered to the croupier, placed two gold pieces on the number 32, and disappeared. The number was successful and the croupier pushed a considerable sum of money toward the young lady. She protested, but the croupier insisted that the money was hers. By and by the Grand Duke reappeared, rubbing his hands and apparently certain of winning some notice from the charming lady. She, however, turned to a gentleman sitting close by and said slowly and in a loud tone: "Would you do me the favor of sending this money on behalf of the Grand Duke Nicola to the central committee for the victims of the revolution in Russia." And without even looking at the Grand Duke she left the room.

DOWIE SELECTS HIS SUCCESSOR

Wilbur Glenn Volviva Becomes Deputy General Overseer Of All Of Zion.

OUTRANKS ALL BUT THE PROPHET

New Official Will Have Charge Of The Spiritual And Business Interests Of The Great And Only Dowie.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, Feb. 8.—At the weekly rally of the followers of John Alexander Dowie in Sallioh tabernacle, Zion City, Wednesday night public announcement was made of the appointment of Wilbur Glenn Volviva as deputy general overseer of all the affairs of Zion throughout the world. This is an office created for the emergency and places Volviva above all other officers in the church save the first apostle, Dr. Dowie himself.

The announcement was made by Judge V. V. Barnes, who read a copy of the cablegram sent by Dr. Dowie in Jamaica to Volviva. It was as follows:

"Volviva, Melbourne, Australia: I have appointed you deputy general overseer. Legal documents will be found executed on your arrival at Zion City. You will take absolute charge of the direction of all business affairs under these powers from date of your arrival. Proceed direct, therefore, to Zion City, where you will find full instructions."

"JOHN ALEXANDER DOWIE."

Acting under these instructions, Overseer Volviva left Melbourne Jan. 15 with his family. They arrived at San Francisco Tuesday and are expected in Zion City Monday next.

The leaders at Zion City were first made aware of the first apostle's intention in a letter brought by Jasper H. Depey, the special messenger dispatched by Dowie from Jamaica about three weeks ago. The information was imparted only to a few, however. It was generally supposed that Volviva was to succeed Dr. J. C. Speicher as overseer of Zion City. His authority is far greater, however, and extends over all ecclesiastical branches and business enterprises of the church throughout the world. With full powers of attorney which await him here Volviva will be authorized to act in all things as Dowie himself.

Volviva is Strong Executive.
Volviva is an Indiana man, having been born near Newton, Fountain county, in 1870. He is a graduate of Union Christian college at Marion, Ind., and of Hiram college in Ohio, receiving the degrees of A. B. and B. D. He is said to be a man of great executive ability. His work in Australia has been more successful than that of any other overseer and has sent more than 200 converts to Zion City. His appointment confirms the belief of many that he would be chosen to succeed the head of the church in case of Dr. Dowie's death.

Another announcement that aroused almost as much interest was the one made by the general financial manager. He said arrangements are in progress for the payment of the entire issue of coupons now outstanding and that he expects to be able to do this soon. The total amount is about $30,000.

WOOD ALCOHOL IS CAUSE OF DEATH

Poisonous Liquor Is Smuggled Into Military Jail, the Men Paying Penalty for Imbibing.

New York, Feb. 8.—From drinking too freely Wednesday of wood alcohol which had been smuggled into Castle William, the military prison on Governor's Island, one soldier is dead, another is dying and eight are seriously ill in the hospital. Gen. Frederick Dent Grant, in command of the department of the east, has ordered a rigid investigation.

Robert Elwell, 26 years old, a private serving a two years' sentence for desertion from a New England post, was the first to show the effects of the alcohol.

Early in the day he aroused the entire castle with cries of "Help! I am burning up. Will nobody help me? I am burning up!" When the guard reached his side he was writhing in pain, shrieking and crying out for help. He was removed to the hospital and the post surgeon was summoned. Restoratives failed and he died in a few minutes.

Scarcely had his cries ceased when screams came from the cell occupied by Richard Sullivan, a private, also 26 years old, who is serving a short term for desertion. Sullivan was removed to the hospital and at a late hour was reported unconscious, with little prospect of recovery.

It was not until eight other prisoners were found writhing and moaning from pain that the real source of the trouble was learned. Then it leaked out that all had partaken freely of wood alcohol, a quantity of which had been smuggled into the prison late on Monday.

Rock River To Be Made Navigable.—The people from Janesville down to the Mississippi are seriously agitating a proposition to open a carrying line by cutting a canal from Lake Winnebago to Lake Horicon, and slack-watering Rock River from the village of Horicon to the Mississippi. It is not a very stupendous undertaking—the river being for a long distance already in fit condition to be used, and the lay of the land, being such as to admit of the construction of a canal with but little cost. The completion of such a work would be a big thing for the farmers of the Rock River Valley.—Waupun Times.

William Ashe only presents the finer side of William Lamb's character—who later became Lord Melbourne and Prime Minister of England. Politics and love, with charmingly life-like scenes from English high-life are the substance of the play. William Ashe's unhappy marriage parallels that of William Lamb. His political career is also somewhat similar.

JANESVILLE MARKET REPORT.

Quotations on Grain and Produce for The Gazette.

REPORTED BY F. H. ORRIN & SON, DEALERS IN HAY, GRAIN, FLOUR AND MEAT.

Feb. 6th, 1906.
FLOUR—1st Patent (115) to 23d Pat out at $1.15 and $1.20 per sack.
Wheat—Chicago Cash, No 1 and 2 North & 3d, 85c.
EAT CORN—$3.50 per 100 bu. per ton.
HAY—60 per 100.
MEAT—24¢ per lb.
OATS—24¢ per 100.
BUTTER—Dairy, 24¢ per lb.
CREAMERY 26¢.
EGGS—Strictly fresh, 25¢.
POULTRY—Old, 10¢ per lb.
DRESSED GESE—9 to 10¢.
VEAL CALVES—10 to 12¢.

In the general markets the grain list is lower. May wheat closed yesterday at 84¢ against 87½¢ February 3d. Corn and oats show a similar decline. The general predictions for snow in the great wheat belts has a tendency to depress prices somewhat on all grain. Our local markets for grain, hay and produce are necessarily subject to a wide range of prices, as each dealer makes his own price according to his wants and supply and demand with his own particular trade, hence it is impossible for us to quote close prices and do justice to all parties interested. We feel confident that as a rule the prices paid in Janesville for grain, produce, etc., is equal or better than those paid by surrounding towns. No one has to sell their products here at a loss or take them home for the lack of purchasers.

"To set up one's sail to every wind" is the task of the successful store-advertiser—to conform to times, seasons, weather, fads, crazes—and to know that enterprise is of all times and seasons.

Winter is trying to make up for lost time.

Without the Gould millions what will Boni Castellane do?

So the chances for an interurban connection with Madison go glimmering again.

We could have told Anna Gould some time ago that the count was the limit.

There are two sides to every question and the railroad rate bill is causing this adage to be well observed.

Japan admits that the war cost it $75,000,000, but trusts the world will not know what it cost Russia.

The Rockford, Beloit and Janesville interurban has a new owner. Certainly this road is much sought after.

Investigating committees often find things are not just as they seem on paper. Even clocks depreciate in time.

A pure-food bill has been before congress seventeen years. Naturally the senate has become expert in killing it.

Perhaps the professor who says plants have the sense of feeling is merely trying to horrify the humane vegetarians.

Here and there throughout the country may be found persons who are not sending wedding presents to the white house.

Mr. Pfister has started another suit against the Free Press that may not be as funny as the Free Press appears to think it is.

When the banks of Rock river inside the city limits are all cemented it will be an enjoyable feature to ride down the stream.

Of course, if Wall street wants a coal strike it can have one, but does Wall street understand the danger of playing with fire?

In the matter of preventing food adulteration the people demand the square deal as necessarily precedent to the square meal.

Those moralists who insist that "money cannot buy happiness" ought to be able to get all kinds of arguments out of the Castellane case.

Tom Lawson may have gone broke, as he at one time predicted, but the poor man is still able to travel about the country in a private car.

By the time Uncle Joe Cannon is through with the naval appropriation bill there may not be enough left of it to wad one of the navy's guns.

Secretary Taft thinks the canal zone should be widened. This is the first intimation that the secretary met with difficulty in getting through it.

If Dowie was going on the principle that nothing he could do would open the eyes of his followers he is beginning to find out his mistake.

Any one owning a railroad of which he is particularly fond should be careful about leaving it outdoors nights when Mr. Harriman is around.

Fairbanks' boom has been re-examined and found in prime condition. The vice-president enjoys a great advantage in his cold-storage facilities.

Henry James compliments the American people on taking care of their teeth. It was believed that Henry would eventually find some good quality in us.

Governor Davidson still believes that silence is golden. Perhaps after all he will decide not to talk at all. This will leave the field open for much speculation for the future.

Those Wisconsin students who proposed to burn faculty members in effigy because football has been abolished were only showing that the influence football exerts needs to be abolished.

An open winter does not always mean that the following summer will be pleasant. Spring rains will be necessary to take the place of the usual plankton of snow.

Some day a coarse person will get into the senate and proceed to break all the rules of senatorial courtesy, thus becoming the most popular man in the country.

On February 27 the German emperor will have a silver wedding. He considers this a pleasing variety from the annual recreation of having a birthday.

This report that New York society brides pay $25,000 for their trousseaux is misleading. Some of them are frugal and pare down to $10,000.

WHAT HIT PATTERSON? For years the much mooted question, "Who hit Billy Patterson?" was discussed without anyone finding out who did hit him. Now United States senator Tom Patterson steps to the fore and the question is, "What hit Tom Patterson?"

Senator Patterson denies the authority of the democratic caucus to control the vote of a senator. He goes so far as to aver that the practice is unconstitutional. However this may be, it is evident that the democratic caucus will not control his vote on the San Domingo treaty. It is no unusual thing for Democrats to break loose, but they do not always break loose to as much purpose as Senator Patterson does in breaking loose from the control of the Democratic caucus.

RENTED FARMS IN WISCONSIN.

Mr. Henry C. Taylor of the state university at Madison, is at work upon the rented farm question, with the large hope that he may be able to hit upon some fair line of argument as between tenant and owner. He gives the following table, showing the increase in rented farms in the counties named since 1880:

County	1880	1900
Dane	13.7	26.2
Grant	14.6	20.7
Green	14.9	26.5
Iowa	12.9	23.9
Jefferson	9.0	18.2
Kenosha	15.3	29.1
Lafayette	18.3	37.6
Milwaukee	14.7	31.2
Racine	13.3	27.6
Rock	21.0	35.4
Walworth	12.5	29.7
Waushara	12.3	20.0

The 12 counties, 14.9, 35.4. Whereas there were but 5,431 rented farms in these twelve counties in 1880, there were 9,592 in 1900, and doubtless many more at the present time.

SIMPLY AN EXAMPLE.

Suppose that in the course of half an hour's reading of the classified ads, you come across an announcement like this:

FOR SALE—To close estate, plot 100x100, corner Smith and Jones Sts., price, $1,000, part cash. Address, X, etc.

You know the neighborhood and the property, and, having $200 to invest, you buy the property, paying that amount in cash and giving a mortgage on the remainder.

On the day that you take title you insert this advertisement—under head "Real Estate for Sale" and "Business Opportunities."

FOR SALE—Four lots, 25x100, single or together; $500 per lot, cash. Ideal factory site; or favorable loan may be secured for building apartment houses or stores. Address, Y, etc.

In the course of ten days several prospective buyers are interviewed, including one who is looking for a factory site. Coming to terms with him, he assumes the $500 mortgage and pays you balance in cash.

Your total expenses in the negotiations, including title search, and advertising, amount to $50. Your net profit on the deal is $550.

Counting the entire actual time consumed in the negotiations as thirty-eight hours, including the original one half hour devoted to reading the ads, and finding the chance, you will have earned $25 an hour.

Business deals paralleling the one cited, many on much larger scales and more on much smaller, are not rare in this city—they are occurring continually. And nine-tenths of them have their origins in what are commonly called the "want ads."

SPOONER'S POSITION.

Senator Spooner defends with spirit our limited representation at The Algeiras conference, says the Nation.

In the long, long reach of time, says the senator in cosmic purview, "are we to confess that we dare not send delegates to international conferences to protect American interests, because we fear they will not know when to withdraw?" In other words, how are our diplomats to learn how to get out of bad boxes unless first they get in? How may they practice the modest and useful art of self-effacement unless they first have obtruded themselves? Such an argument takes us back to those early Christians, who, to demonstrate their faith, voluntarily exposed themselves to the direst temptations. These experiments as often revealed the frailty of the flesh as the might of the spirit. But, on the point of slipping away, adroitly, Mr. Spooner emphasizes the president's capacity for seizing psychological moments.

"The president of the United States, who lit upon the psychological moment to intervene and bring to an end the deplorable war between Russia and Japan, can be trusted to determine the psychological moment when Ambassador White and his colleague, Minister Gummere, must withdraw from the Moroccan conference in order to save this country from all danger of unfortunate European entanglements, should such a moment come to pass."

Now the crudest intelligence of the most craven American can grasp the evident fact that there is no use in perceiving the psychological moment for withdrawal unless you have something to withdraw. Evidently, if you are to recall your delegates at the instant when the peace of the world wavers in the balance, you must first send them. This explains all.

PRESS COMMENT.

To Hang Hoch Again. La Crosse Chronicle: Hoch, of "Bluebird" fame, again is sentenced to hang.

Summarily Dealt With. El Paso Herald: The Ecuador revolution ended when the revolutionary party's wife got hold of him and set him to chopping wood.

Most Of Them Have 'Em. Exchange: One New York preacher goes a little further in his ideas of municipalization—he wants the city to establish sobering rooms for drunks.

Battle Even On Deathbed. Superior Telegram: Just before the late Gen. Wheeler passed away he inquired when the firing would begin. Truly the ruling passion is strong, even in death.

Rude, Rough Fellow. Exchange: The army snob who has been rebuked by the president probably thinks the president is a rude, rough fellow who isn't worth considering by such gentlemen as he.

Too Good To Be True. Chicago Record-Herald: The comic valentine is said to have disappeared. It is certainly time for us to be going back to the simple life.

A Good Scholar, Doubtless.

Sheboygan Journal: Woodrow Wilson, president of Princeton University, has been brought out as a democratic candidate for president of the United States. He has not yet declared himself on the football question but he is considered sound on the tariff.

Path To Glory Badly Littered.

Exchange: Count Castellane announced some time ago his candidacy for a seat in the French senate as a stepping stone to the presidency. We fear the countess, by her action for divorce, has obstructed the path to the stepping stone.

Safe Because On The Surface.

London Saturday Review: We had thought that the idea of the wickedness of Paris was long since exploded. As a matter of fact Paris is one of the most innocent of places, since its vice is open, superficial, on the surface.

His Piety Irritates.

Milwaukee Sentinel: There is something about young Mr. Rockefeller's vociferous piety that recalls Heine's remark that he had no doubt a blasphemous Frenchman is a more agreeable spectacle in the sight of God than a praying Englishman.

A Corner On Hong Kong.

Wauwatosa Times: Wisconsin seems to have cornered the Hong Kong consulate. First Mr. Rublee, then Gen. Bragg and now A. P. Wilder. The guileless Celestial will have cause to think that Wisconsin and United States are interchangeable terms.

Independence Is Questioned.

Racine Journal: It is stated there are 1,532,947 separate business concerns in the country, as an argument to show the trusts have not absorbed all. But still it is true that more than might be expected of this number are component parts of trusts, but carrying carrying separate names.

Waiting For The Break.

Oshkosh Northwestern: Senator La Follette is not making much of a stir since his arrival at the national capital, but some of the papers are still keeping a watchful and expectant eye in his direction, as indicated by the following from The Kansas City Journal. It says: "Can anybody explain the strange case of the Hon. Robert La Follette? In the senate a whole month and no speech yet. It is positively uncanny."

Not Much of a Shopper.

Milwaukee Free Press: The mystery is, and always has been, what Anna Gould wanted the little spindle. She had the money, and he had the debts. He had a title of count, but there was nothing in it, for titles do not count in France any more. The girl could have done so much better at home. She could have done even so much better over there, somewhere. When a girl has the income from eight or ten millions she can do about as well as she wants to, almost anywhere. But when it comes to buying, what a girl is thinking of to buy such a thin-legged, pin-headed, wicked little cockcomb as this Boni is too much for the American. She must be a mighty poor shopper.

Thrifty Habits.

Wise parents will ever strive to impress upon their children the necessity of forming prudent habits; of spending money to advantage, so that some article of utility or value is always obtained for it; the duty of exercising systematic and judicious charity, and that the purest happiness which can be experienced upon earth springs from the practice of benevolence.—Exchange.

Truly wonderfully—a little want ad.

BURN GAS COKE

WE SELL The KIND That GIVES SATISFACTION

OUR GAS COKE IS A FUEL OF GREAT MERIT, and many prudent people are daily finding it out. OUR GAS COKE is a good substitute for hard coal, and when understood produces about the same results at a saving of $1.75 per ton. Our GAS COKE that gives SATISFACTION sells for $7.00 per ton.

HOW TO BURN OUR COKE

Keep a large body of coke under a low fire rather than a little coke under a strong fire. When leaving fire for the night, fill fire box full of coke, shut off damper, and in some instances leave feed door ajar, and leave small amount of ashes on the grate to check draft.

Kitchen Ranges can be regulated so a fire can be kept all night, and as coke starts quick, you have a hot fire a few minutes after you open draft in the morning.

Our Gas Coke is Clean and Dry.

OTHER GOOD THINGS IN FUEL

With Our White Pine Kindling, you can build a fire without soiling the hands, $6.00 per ton.

Watterson On Journalism.

Washington Post: Henry Watterson has an article in one of the eastern magazines entitled "English and American Journalism." Perhaps no other man in the country is more capable of discussing the subject. Mr. Watterson has been a force in journalism since his boyhood. He is richly endowed with the gift of style. It is a genius that cannot and will not write a dull or heavy line. When at his best, he is the despair of all who would emulate him.

Mr. Watterson is the last of the barons. He is of the build of Greeley, Raymond, Dana. His paper is the work of Henry Watterson, and when he shall have gone from the scenes of this life impersonal journalism will be universal. He is the only editor in America more widely known than his paper.

Mr. Watterson remarks that in proportion to what the newspaper has gained as a vehicle of news, it seems to have lost as a conveyor of ideas; and that is true, for two reasons. This generation thinks more about business than it does about politics; while the constituency he addressed forty years ago cared a great deal more for politics than it did for business. Shakespeare decided that the prosperity of an anecdote lies more in the ear of the hearer than on the tongue of the narrator, or words to that effect. The case of Edmund Burke illustrates the truth of it.

But let some tremendous question arise, such as that which convulsed the country during the period between the close of the Mexican war and the beginning of the civil war, and there would be room in America for all the Greeleys, Raymonds, and Wattersons that could be mustered. At the present, America is too busy making money to study politics; as dish up by editors, and so the editorial page is become a review of current events, not a mold of public opinion.

In a Berry Bog.

The cranberry season is eagerly awaited by the poorer classes of Cape Cod, whole families journeying to the bog with provisions and cooking utensils for an extended picnic. The work is easily learned, and a child of five can easily pick four measures a day, which means the earning of forty cents. An adult picker can gather from thirty to forty measures a day, which is good wages.

CLOCK FACTORY A BIG FIASCO?

THAT'S WHAT IT LOOKED LIKE TO INVESTIGATORS.

JUST A CARLOAD OF JUNK

Was Dennis Hayes' Summing Up of the Situation That Confronted Mr. Sutherland and Himself at Princeton, Ind.

That six days' dream of the glowing hours and shining minutes in various parts of this terrestrial sphere, being ticked off in the immediate future by Jamesville watches and alarm clocks has been rudely shattered. It was pleasant to contemplate while disconcerting to realize that the machinery built at an actual cost of $110,000 and appraised at $75,000, which was to be moved here on six or seven cars and installed in the old cotton mills with the understanding that citizens should take $14,000 in stock and pay $900 a year with a capital of $70,000, is located at Princeton, Indiana. Anyone who wants it is now free to go there. The press can no longer be silenced. It will speak out and say that Princeton, Indiana, is the home of this "wonderous institution" which couldn't make enough of its marvellous movements at 30 or 40 per cent profit to satisfy the greedy market, though it stood ready to turn out 500 a day and employ 100 able bodied men in the turning.

Mass Meeting Recalled. There was a mass meeting at the city hall last Thursday night and Jamesville's foremost citizens heard the long and interesting message of E. A. Bazzett of Chicago who represented himself as the owner, title clear, an institution which, if rightly managed, would not only yield enormous profits but would cause the whole world to take notice of, if not rise up and bless Jamesville alarm clocks. The man talked so convincingly that $4,000 worth of stock was subscribed on the spot, conditional upon a favorable report from a committee consisting of George G. Sutherland and Dennis Hayes which should be sent down into Indiana to substantiate the Bazzett representations. There was a companion of Mr. Bazzett, named E. J. Phillips, who talked not at all but who seemed to be listening.

Who Is the Owner? When the Messrs. Sutherland and Hayes arrived in Princeton the first of the week they found the clock factory in the hands of the sheriff. It had been in the same chaperone for some time. That was surprise No. 1, and No. 2 followed quickly on its heels—they could locate no one who had ever heard of Mr. Bazzett. After some investigations they learned that the major portion of the concern was popularly supposed to be owned by the Tulsa Clock Co., of Indian Territory but that there were judgments outstanding against the whole outfit, which amounted to $8,913.36. After a little persuasion the sheriff got the keys and let them in to look at the plant.

What the Owner Owns. Some of the machinery and parts were packed. A large portion was not. In a hurried survey, Mr. Hayes estimated that the whole layout could be packed in one box car. The two men did not linger long with what they respectfully dubbed "the junk." They staid just long enough to list the machinery on a half page of a vest-pocket notebook. Then they sought out one of the two men who had inventoried the contents when the factory ceased to operate two years ago and received from him these totals of the appraisal:

Machinery $1,300
Tools and parts $2,400
Total value $5,500

Movements Made At A Loss. Inquiry elsewhere in Princeton elicited statements to the effect that the movements had never been of a high enough grade to be used by the trade for anything except for advertising premiums; that it had cost 60 cents apiece to make them; and that they were sold at quotations ranging from 40 to 55 cents. Bankers and other leading citizens expressed themselves as heavily disgusted with the whole outfit. The man Murray whom Mr. Bazzett alluded to as the probable superintendent if factory should be installed here, they said was a good watch-maker, but they did not regard him as a man of any considerable business ability.

What Was The Game? If Mr. Bazzett has not himself, been deceived both as to the ownership while he alleges rests in him and the character of the property, the question arises: What was the game? The property was to be delivered here, according to the agreement to which he willingly subscribed, strictly according to the imposing inventory he presented before a cent of the local subscription money should be paid in. The Advancement Association communicated with Mr. Bazzett in Chicago, today, inviting him to come here tonight and offer an explanation. Time is money to the Messrs. Sutherland and Hayes and they returned to Jamesville Tuesday night in anything but a pleasant frame of mind over two days utterly wasted.

ST. VALENTINE IS A LUSTY SAINT STILL

Dainty Tokens of Love and Esteem Will Be Sent on the Fourteenth—Comics Post.

Departed is the day of the lace paper and decalcomania valentine, and the hand-painted satin valentine, and most of the other atrocities formerly offered in the name of the blessed saint.

St. Valentine's Day Falls on Feb. 14. In their stead, are shown charming artistic things, and though there may be certain misguided young men who will mourn the loss of their favorite gaudy mediums for conveying hints of the tender passion to their loved ones, for the most part there is rejoicing that St. Valentine's day may not be observed without offense to good taste.

Hearts and Flowers. Many shops are showing valentines that are altogether new and as pretty as can be—just hearts in various sizes, cut from white cardboard, decorated with graceful sprays of blossoms, hand-painted, and bearing daintily inscribed stanzas from the poets. Deep-hearted crimson poppies, spring-like daffodils, violets that look as though just plink and crimson and hollow, roses pink and crimson and yellow, corn flowers and forget-me-nots, give a charming suggestion of the coming spring and convey adequately the sentiment of the day.

Artistic Folders. At other places are displayed artistic folders which open and disclose stunning girls in various graceful poses and printed in sepia tints that make them like etchings. The orthodox inscription, "To Mr. Valentine," is the touch necessary to make most appropriate valentines of the pretty things. Some of the little pictures are framed, ready to hang. Rather more love-like are the cupid, embossed on heavy paper.

Old-Time Comic Going. The old-time comic valentines are likewise taking their departure, but the shops show humorous cards that take their place. One has the quaint little Dutch maiden, who makes the naive confession:

I love you,
But it don't Look well
For me to say,
So I won't tell.

A little Chinese boy bears a long pole over his shoulder, with a suspended lantern, and announces that:

You are the light of my life.
One delightful picture shows a wee man and a maid, just of a height, and the head of the wee man has entirely disappeared within the depths of the scoon-bonnet worn by the small sweetheart.

Candy and flowers remain, as always, favorite valentine gifts. The flowers are usually great bunches of violets, and the candy is sent in heart-shaped boxes.

LEADING LADY AND SOUBRETTE WITHOUT FUNDS OR FRIENDS

Actresses of Late Vaudeville Company and Former Members of Robinson Stock Company Are Stranded at Local Hotel.

Deserted by her husband and with a two-year-old child to care for, destitute of funds and hundreds of miles from friends, is the condition Lizzie Chambers, former leading lady in the Robinson Stock company and recently top-line attraction in the Cole and Albright Refined Specialty company, finds herself in at a local hotel. Nita Pearl, soubrette and vaudeville artist, is her companion and she also is without cash and in a strange portion of the country. The story is not entirely new to those at all acquainted with theatrical life, but the connections are somewhat local. The tale that the Mesdames Chambers and Pearl tell runs as follows: Miss Chambers, or as she is known off the stage, Mrs. Ray Bankson, has until lately been playing the leading role with the Robinson Stock company and appeared here with that troupe some three months ago. Miss Pearl was with the same company, playing the soubrette part, and also appeared in Jamesville. A few weeks ago the Robinson company closed the season up in Northern Michigan. The two, with Miss Chambers' husband and child, came as far as Madison and there remained a few days, undecided whether to go to look for further employment. While waiting they saw the "ad" of two Capital City men, searching for Thespian ability of the vaudeville class. The Mesdames Chambers and Pearl applied for positions and secured them, becoming members of the Cole and Albright theatrical company. Among others in the company was George Dower, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Dower of this city. He was engaged to play the piano. A week ago Monday the company went on tour, playing Middleton, Brooklyn and places of similar size. Saturday night came, but the actresses and actors received no pay. Nothing, however, was said. Monday morning the company passed through Jamesville and went to Orfordville, where they presented a program that evening. Tuesday morning the Mesdames Chambers and Pearl asked for their pay. Manager Horace Cole laughed. He said he had no money and could not pay them. The two actresses secured an officer and sought their remuneration through the law. But Manager Cole had no money and there was no property to attach. Things had not been running smoothly in the Bankson family circle and Mr. Bankson refused to accompany his wife in the strike for salary. The remnants of the company returned to Jamesville last evening, but purported to have sent Bankson to Brohead, thinking the rebellious women would follow him. They, however, were not misled by the ruse, having learned through a chance acquaintance the plans of Cole to conceal Bankson in the toilet room of the train for Jamesville. The two women followed to Jamesville, but whether they knew or not, the stranded troupe went there, not knowing. Rumor says Cole went to Madison to reorganize and that Bankson was headed for Rockford. The two women swear even-tingly that they were not aware of the plan. Bankson and Pearl are meanwhile expecting to receive funds from friends in their home city, Pittsburg, having telegraphed thither for succor.

Must Get Busy. Candidates for offices must get busy at the end of this month. Each aspirant must have signatures of at least three per cent of his party vote in at least one-sixth of the election precinct of his district and in aggregate not less than three per cent more than ten per cent of the total vote of his party in such district.

Local Politics. In Jamesville this spring there is no Mayor to be selected, but each of the wards elect an alderman and supervisor. As yet there has been but little political gossip, although several candidates have been mentioned. In the first ward there will be but little opposition to the return of Alderman Merritt, if he desired it. In the second, we a democratic ward, Al Sherman Bauman may have trouble. Several candidates have been suggested, among them George Buchholz, who nearly beat Bauman last spring. In the third ward, Alderman Jackson will retire and there is considerable talk of William W. Watt being a candidate to succeed him. The fourth is hopelessly democratic, as is the fifth. City Treasurer Fathens will have but little opposition for re-election, but City Attorney Burpee may have a fight on his hands, although it is too early to know as yet. Two candidates have been mentioned for the republican nomination—William Ringer, Jr. and John Cunningham. Both are good men and would doubtless cause considerable interest in the contest.

NEW PRIMARY LAW IS VERY EFFECTIVE NOW

An Extra Registration is Provided For, But Inspectors Are To Receive No Extra Pay.

At the special session of the legislature in December a change of that section of the primary law relating to registration was made so that there will be four days instead of three on which voters can register. This does not mean that there will be an increase in the expenses for the paying of election inspectors. Before there were three registration days, two before the election and the other on the day preceding the primary. The change made is as follows:

Registration Days. "Except in cities of the first class, every primary election day and the Monday next preceding shall be registration days, on which the inspectors shall exercise the powers prescribed by sections 2 and 26, statutes of 1898, but no person shall be registered on or after the day of holding the primary without personally appearing before the inspectors."

No Extra Pay. As appears from the change, the inspectors are required to be in their booths any way on the primary, and consequently, they will receive no additional pay. The first registration days occur March 6 and 7. The primaries will be held March 20.

Pleases Clerks. The city clerks are pleased with that part of the primary law which has been changed so as to make clear when the nomination papers shall be filed. Last year there was considerable confusion in this respect. As changed the law specifically provides that the nomination papers shall be filed at least 15 days before the primary, a list of candidates posted and published at least ten days, and the official ballot printed at least four days before the day of holding such primaries. Therefore, the nomination papers of all candidates must be in the hands of the city clerk not later than March 5.

Must Get Busy. Candidates for offices must get busy at the end of this month. Each aspirant must have signatures of at least three per cent of his party vote in at least one-sixth of the election precinct of his district and in aggregate not less than three per cent more than ten per cent of the total vote of his party in such district.

CAUCUS CLASH IN THE SENATE

Mr. Patterson of Colorado Represents Dictation as to Political Action.

SWAYS FROM OATH OF OFFICE

Declares That Coercion by Party Gathering Strips Every Senator of His Independence—Mr. Tillman Does Not Relish Crow.

Washington, Feb. 8.—The senate Wednesday laid aside legislation while one senator urged the right of independence from party dictation and another defended the partisan caucus. Senator Patterson of Colorado and Senator Spooner of Wisconsin sat throughout the controversy, making copious notes, indicating a purpose of getting into the fray.

Senator Patterson spoke in defense of his resolutions denouncing, as unconstitutional, the recent action of the democratic caucus seeking to bind members of the minority party to vote against the ratification of the Santo Domingo treaty. He declared that patronage had nothing to do with it. Then he told about a heated argument he had had with the president the last time he saw him, about a month ago, when both indulged in plain language over certain legislation in relation to cattle. Then Senator Patterson renewed his praise of the president.

Wipes Out Independence. The coercion of the caucus was depicted by Mr. Patterson as refined but cruel, as it strips every senator of his independence and either sways him from his oath of office or sweeps him into oblivion.

Mr. Patterson said that he expected to vote for the Santo Domingo treaty, but that he expected the treaty to be amended. "I do not object to the main features of the treaty," he said, "but if the treaty is not amended as I think it should be I will take the new condition into consideration, and at the end of as I think I should."

Mr. Daniel asked Mr. Patterson if he knew of any other senator who would vote for the treaty. But Mr. Patterson did not reply. Instead he referred to the charge made that he had deserted his party and that he was in the habit of making party changes. He admitted that he left the democratic party in 1882 rather than support Mr. Cleveland. In this connection he referred to Mr. Tillman's course in his own state, and Mr. Tillman interrupted with the remark that he had eaten as much crow in submitting to party dictation as any man living.

Tillman Doesn't Like Crow. "Did you like it?" asked Mr. Spooner, and Mr. Tillman replied, "No, but I took it."

The digression caused a general laugh, which continued as Mr. Patterson remarked that he too had eaten some crow less tough than that taken by Mr. Tillman.

"I may not be admitted to the councils of my party so far as the democratic senators constitute it," said Mr. Patterson in closing, "but I realize it is not because of any moral turpitude or unseemly conduct, but because I am carrying out my duties as I swore to do. I will bear communication with fortitude, and I will meet my colleagues at the next democratic national convention, where I hope to see nominated a candidate who will command the votes obtained by President Roosevelt, and who will be equally brave, conscientious and determined in standing by his guns until the battle for the people is won."

Defines Duty to Party. Senator Bailey declared the caucus simply had defined Senator Patterson's duty as a democrat, and that it was for him to decide now for his duty as a senator conflicts with it. Then he sprang a newspaper clipping on the Colorado senator showing how he had consented to the caucus that nominated him for the senate. Next Senator Bailey devoted himself to President Roosevelt and read a denunciation of the democratic party from Roosevelt's letter of acceptance. To cap the climax it was shown Senator Patterson had voted for the caucus rule he now complains of, two years ago, but the Colorado senator admitted it, declaring he had seen the error of his way.

The debate concluded at 4 p. m. and the senate went into executive session.

The galleries were cleared of the throngs that packed them and the doors were closed. Fifteen minutes later the senate adjourned and one of the most intensely exciting days in its history came to a close.

TOO MANY BOSSES. Wallace Says Chain of Masters Hampers Work on Canal.

Washington, Feb. 8.—John F. Wallace, formerly chief engineer of the isthmian canal commission, who concluded his testimony before the senate canal committee Wednesday, said the present arrangement amounted to a chain of masters, with the chairman of the commission, an executive commissioner, Mr. Cromwell, Secretary Taft and the president, grading down to Mr. Stevens, the man in charge on the ground. He said he included Mr. Cromwell in the chain of masters because he had certain undisputed influence. Mr. Wallace favored the contract system, he said, because of the red tape in which direct government work is entangled. The man in charge of the work under the contract system, he said, then would not be hampered by too many bosses. The headquarters of the commission, he said, should be on the isthmus, and the harder the communication with Washington the faster the work would progress, he declared. Discussing rates on the Panama railroad, Mr. Wallace said he thought $2 a ton should be charged for transportation across the isthmus and that there should be no classification.

To Abolish Army Rank. Washington, Feb. 8.—Provision for the abolition of the grade of lieutenant general, the highest rank in the army, is made in the army appropriation bill which has been ordered reported to the house from the committee on military affairs. Corbin, MacArthur and Wood will not be able to secure the expected promotion to the grade of lieutenant general. Another provision of the bill, if accepted by congress, will stop the practice of promoting general officers for the purpose of getting them at a higher grade. It prohibits the promotion of an officer above the grade of colonel and his retirement unless he shall have served at least one year in his last grade.

Washington, Feb. 8.—Secretary Bonaparte has recommended to the president the pardon of Midshipman Minor Merriwether, Jr., convicted of bawling and sentenced to dismissal from the naval academy. THE MAN ON THE BOX

By HAROLD MacGRATH
Author of "The Gray Clock," "The Puppet Crown."

Copyright, 1904, The Bobbs-Merrill Company.

CHAPTER X.

On the opposite side of the road there was a stone wall about five feet in height; beyond this was a broad, rolling field and farther on a barbed wire fence and a boggy stream which oozed its way toward the Potomac. Far away across the valley the wooded hills were dying and withering and thinning, with splashes of yellow and red. A flock of birds speckled the feeble October clouds, and a mild breeze sent the grasses shivering.

Toward the wall Pirate directed his course. Warburton threw back his full weight. The effort had little or no effect on Pirate's mouth. His rider remembered about the tree, but the nearest was many yards away. Over the wall they went and down the field. Pirate tried to get his head down but he received a check. Score one for the man. Warburton, his legs stiffened in the stirrups, his hands well down, his breath coming in gasps, wondered where they would finally land. He began to use his knees and Pirate felt the pressure. He didn't like it at all. Oddly enough, Warburton's leg did not bother him as he expected it would, and this gave him confidence. On, on, the dull pounding of Pirate's feet, the flying soil, the wind in his face, and when he saw the barbed wire fence, fear entered into him. An inch too low, a stumble and serious injuries might result. He must break Pirate's gait.

He began to saw cow-boy fashion. Pirate grew indignant. He was being hurt. His speed slackened none, however; he was determined to make that fence if it was the last thing he ever did. He'd like to see any man stop him. He took the deadly fence as with the wings of a bird. But he found that the man was still on his back. He couldn't understand it. He grew worried. And then he struck the red-brown muck bordering the stream. The muck flew, but at every bound Pirate sank deeper, and the knees of his rider were beginning to tell. Warburton, full of rage, yet not unreasonably so, quickly saw his chance. Once more he threw back his weight; this time to the left. Pirate's head came stubbornly around. His gait was broken, he was floundering in the stream. Now Warburton used his heels savagely. He shortened the reins and whacked Mr. Pirate soundly across the ears. Pirate plunged and reared, and after devious evolutions, reached solid ground. This time, his head was high in the air, and try as he would, he could not lower his neck a solitary inch.

Warburton knew that the animal could not make the barbed wire fence again, so he waited him along till he found a break in the wire. Over this Pirate bounded, snorting. But he had met a master. Whether he reared or plunged, waltzed or ran, he could not make those ruthless knees relent in their pressure. He began to understand what all boasts understand, sooner or later—the inevitable mastery of man. There was blood in his nostrils. A hand touched his neck caressingly. He shook his head; he refused to succumb. A voice, kindly but rather breathless, addressed him. Again Pirate shook his head; but he did not run, he cantered. Warburton gave a sign of retreat. Over the field they went. A pull to the left, and Pirate wheeled; a pull to the right, and again Pirate answered, and cantered in a circle. He was mastered.

After this Warburton did as he pleased; Pirate had learned his lesson. His master put him through a dozen maneuvers, and he was vastly satisfied with the victory. He had conquered the horse before the eyes of one woman.

He guided Pirate close to the wall, and stopped him, looked down into the girl's wonder-lit eyes and smiled cheerfully. And what is more she smiled faintly in acknowledgement. He had gained, in the guise of a groom, what he might never have gained in any other condition of life, the girl's respect and admiration. Though a thorough woman of the world, high-bred, well-born, she forgot for the moment to control her features; and as I have remarked elsewhere, Warburton was a shrewd observer.

"Bully Mr. Osborne!" shouted William leaping down. "It was simply too tired to do some drawing for me to-night."

"The fortification plans?"

"Yes." His eyes wandering from her face to the night outside. How gray and sad the world was! "You will always love your father, dearie?"

"Love him? Always!"

"Whatever befalls for weal or woe?"

"Whatever befalls."

How easy it was for her to say these words!

"And yet, some day, you must leave me to take up your abode in some other man's heart. My only wish is that it may beat for you as truly as mine does."

She did not reply, but stepped to the window and pressed her brow to the chilled pane. A yellow and purple line marked the path of the vanished sun; the million stars sparkled above; far away she could see the lights of the city. "Of what was she thinking, dreaming?" Was she dreaming of heroes such as we poets and novelists invent and hang upon the puppet-beam? Ah, the pity of these dreams the young girl has! She dreams of heroes and of god-like men and of the one that is to come. But, ah, he never comes; and the dream fades and dies and the world becomes real. A man may find his ideal, but a woman, never. To youth, the fields of love; to man, the battle-ground; to old age, a chair in the sunshine and the wreck of dreams!

"The government ought to pay you well if those plans are successful." She moved away from the window.

"Yes, the government ought to pay me well. I should like to make you rich, dearie, and happy."

"Why, daddy, am I not both? I have more money than I know what to do with, and I am happy in having the kindest father." She came around the table and caressed him, cheek to cheek.

"Money isn't everything. It just makes me happy to do anything for you."

"His arm grew tense around her waist."

"Do you know what was running through my mind at the embassy last night? I was thinking how deeply I love this great wide country of mine. As I looked at the ambassador and his aides, I was saying to myself, 'You dare not!' It may have been silly, but I couldn't help it. We are the greatest people in the world. When I compare foreign soldiers with our own, how my heart and pride swelled! No formalities, no race prejudice, no false pride. I was never introduced to a foreign officer that I did not fear him, with his weak eyes, his affected mannerisms, his studied rudeness, not to me, but the country I represented. How I made some of them dance! Not for vanity's sake, rather the inborn patriotism of my race. I had only to think of my father, his honorable scars, his contempt for little things, his courage, his steadfastness, his love for his country, which has so honored him with its trust. Oh! I am a patriot; and I shall never, never marry a man whose love for his country does not equal my own." She caught up her father's mutilated hand and kissed it. "And even now this father of mine is planning and planning to safeguard his country."

"But you must not say anything to a soul, my child; it must be a secret till all is ready. I met Karloff to-day at the club. He has promised to dine with us to-morrow night."

"Make him postpone it. I have promised to dine with Nancy Warburton."

"You had better dine with us and spend the evening with your friend. Do you not think him a handsome fellow?"

"He is charming." She touched the bowl of poppies with her fingers and smiled.

"He is very wealthy, too."

Betty offered no comment.

"What did they do to that infernal rascal who attempted to run away with you and Mrs. Chadwick?"

"He was arrested and locked up."

"I hope they will keep him there. And what reason did he give the police for attempting to run away with you?"

"He said that he had made a wager with some serving-maids to drive them from the embassy. He claims to have got the wrong number and the wrong carriage."

"A very likely story!"

"Yes, a very likely story!"—and Betty, still smiling, passed on into the music-room, where she took her violin from its case and played some rollicking measures from Offenbach.

At the same time her father arose and went out on the lawn, where he walked up and down, with a long, quick stride. From time to time a wailing note from the violin floated out to him, and he would stop and raise his haggard face toward heaven. His face was no longer masked in smiles; it was grief-stricken, self-horrifying. At length he softly crossed the lawn and stood before the music-room window. Ah, no fretting care sat on yonder face, nor pain, nor trouble; youth, only youth and some pleasant thought, which the music had aroused. How like her mother! How like her mother!

Suddenly he smote himself on the brow with a clenched hand. "Wretch! God-forsaken wretch, how have you kept your trust? And how would child have stabbed you! My country! My honor! My courage and steadfastness! Mockery!"

CRUISER'S CREW IS IN MUTINY

Out of 325 Sailors on Marblehead Only Ten Obey Coaling Orders.

San Diego, Cal., Feb. 8.—It is stated on what is believed to be good authority that a condition of mutiny existed among the sailors of the cruiser Marblehead while on her recent trip in southern waters. The Marblehead, Capt. Mulligan, reached this port Wednesday and anchored apart from the other vessels of the Pacific squadron now in this harbor. While at Pichilingue bay, it is said, all but ten of the 325 sailors refused to participate in coaling the vessel, giving as their excuse for the action a lack of shore leave and an absence of fresh vegetables since the cruiser was last at San Francisco.

DENIES JAPAN CONTROLS COREA

Corean Emperor Said to Have Invited Powers to Fix Protectorate.

London, Feb. 8.—Douglas Story, telegraphing to the Tribune from Chefoo, states that he has obtained from the emperor of Corea a document bearing the imperial seal, the original of which, he says, he has proved before the British consul at Chefoo. In this document the emperor denied that he signed or approved the treaty of Japan or consented to the appointment of a Japanese resident and "invites the great powers to exercise a joint protectorate over Corea for a period not exceeding five years with respect to the control of Corean foreign affairs."

A GOOD REASON.

Janeville People Can Tell You Why It Is So.

Doan's Kidney Pills cure the cause of disease, and that is why the cures are always lasting. This remedy strengthens and tones up the kidneys, helping them to drive out of the body the liquid poisons that cause backache and distressing kidney and urinary complaints. Janeville people testify to permanent cures.

Thomas Burgess, millwright of 15 Park Ave., Janeville, Wis., makes the following statement concerning Doan's Kidney Pills:

"I had always had a pain in my back for nearly ten years. A dull ache and a dull feeling often completely laid me up. It was very bad at night, and I have awakened from a sound sleep feeling as if a ton weight was lying on my back, and for a few moments I would be afraid to move for fear of sharp shooting pains which usually struck me at such times and went to the very quick. I had to use my hands and arms to turn over in bed; my back was weak. The pain was in very bad shape also, and gave me trouble at night as I had to get up a number of times to pass it. There was considerable sediment and the secretions were discolored. I had used a number of remedies at different times without apparent benefit. I at last decided to try Doan's Kidney Pills and got a box at the Peoples Drug Company, and soon after I began to use them I began to improve. In a few days the backache left me and as I continued the treatment the irregularities of the secretions were corrected and I have enjoyed better health ever since, having had no return of any form of kidney trouble."

All Sorts Of Sport Gossip

Motor Skates, a French Invention, the Latest Novelty--Willie Hoppe to Meet Either Schaefer or Slosson, or Both--Indoor Rifle Tourney.

Motor skating is the latest possibility that is likely to attract the attention of the sport-loving public in the near future. What effect motor skates will have upon the future of motor cycles or even light runabout automobiles, it is problematical at this time to speculate, but the fact that such speculations may assume a very practical shape is seen in the fact that a pair of motor skates is now on exhibition in the Paris automobile salon.

These motor skates have attracted much attention, but the inventor, M. Constantin, intends to devote more time to improvements before he places them upon the market. He claims, however, that the wonderful tales of the seven-league boots will dwindle almost into insignificance when motor skates become the popular rage.

The skates as at present constructed weigh about sixteen pounds and will cost about $100. Each skate is propelled by a motor of one and one-fourth horsepower, sufficient to give the wearer an opportunity to attain a speed of from six to thirty miles an hour.

They are roller skates, the wheels being eight inches in diameter, and the resilience of the sole is supplemented by a special compensating suspension which takes the place of springs. The gasoline and accumulator are carried in a belt which is strapped around the waist, and flexible wires connect the belt with the motors.

The general appearance of these ingenious skates is said to resemble miniature motor cars. They are about fifteen inches long and broad in proportion.

M. Constantin believes there is a great future ahead for motor skating.

Willie Hoppe, the sensational young billiardist who recently defeated Mau-

WILLIE HOPPE EXECUTING A DRAW SHOT. Vice Vignaux in Paris for the world's championship, has returned to America to meet either George Slosson or Jacob Schaefer, or both.

Hoppe is picked by experts to win from each of his rival American stars, although he is barely out of his teens and Slosson and Schaefer are veterans of twenty years' standing.

Arrangements have been completed for the annual tournament of the Indoor Rifle League of the United States to be held at Grand Rapids, Mich., Feb. 12 to 17. The chief feature of the tourney will be the 100 shot race for the national championship.

The prize list is an attractive one, having a total of 118 cash awards, which in the four series of contests will make possible an individual winning of $250.

This will be the first time a meeting of this kind has been attempted in the west, although events of a like nature have been held in the eastern cities, and it is expected that marksmen from all parts of the country will compete. Entries are open to all, the only requirement being an accurate gun with 22 caliber ammunition. Charles J. Otis, 32 Holbrook street, Grand Rapids, is secretary.

Richard Marsh, King Edward VII's trainer, has fifty-nine horses in his charge at Newmarket. In addition to those belonging to the king, Marsh has horses for Arthur James, Lord Londonderry, Lord Marcus Beresford, J. W. Larnach and two of his own. The biggest lot is the king's, and it comprises seventeen head. Although the king maintains a big stud on his own account, the youngsters upon which the greatest hopes are built come from an outside breeder. This is Cygnus, by Cyllene, the sire of Cicero, last season's Derby winner. Cygnus was bred by Lord Londonderry and cost the king $3,500 guineas. He is well engaged. Lord Londonderry has a youngster by Flying Fox named The Welkin, said to be the first horse by Flying Fox bred in England to race there.

Promising Juveniles.

Young Horses in Eastern Training Stables That Should Do Well on Track.

Not all of the smart looking, well bred two-year-olds wintering at the Long Island (N. Y.) tracks are to be found in the larger stables. At Gravesend there are several of the smaller owners, who purchased yearlings last season, and it looks count for anything these youngsters should hold their own with their fellows in the larger and more aristocratic establishments.

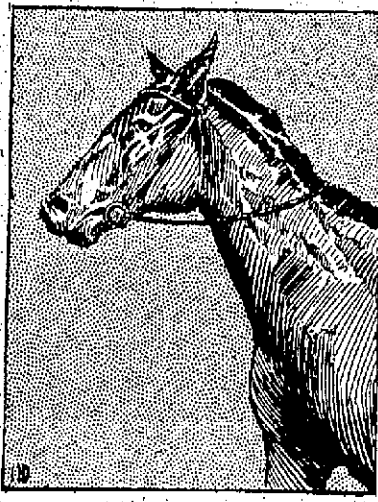

In addition to handling the horses of Newton Bennington, Fred Burlew has eight two-year-olds of his own. Burlew was in the yearling market on his own account last summer and showed much judgment in his selections. They are stabled at the Bennington barn and are in charge of Assistant Trainer Joe Kelly during the winter months.

Possibly the pick of the lot is the brother to Voorhees, by Solitaire II, out of Carnation II, and bred by Adolph Spreckels at his Napa stock farm in California. The colt is a bay of good height and size and showed a nice turn of speed in his yearling trials last fall. The dead sire Miribful is represented by a slashing bay colt out of that speedy mare Greenwich. There is a lot of quality in this fellow's make-up, and, though but little was done with him last fall, he gave evidence of the possession of speed.

A clever looking chestnut colt by Chandra is one that should get above the overnight class and win some of the minor fixtures for horses of his age at least. His appearance indicates a racer of considerable class, and his trials last fall gave every evidence that he would come to hand early. He will be pointed for the early meetings.

The get of the Futurity winner Yankee which will race for the first time the coming season have invariably attracted much attention, and the filly by this son of Hanover in Burlew's string is no exception. She is out of Sister Cheerful and is a half sister, therefore, to the good race horse and sire Miribful. On her breeding she has every indication to race with distinction. In addition to this she shows quality all through. She has a good head and neck, strong shoulders and quarters that denote speed in plenty. That she is speedy was proved by her trials last fall. There will be genuine disappointment if she does not take high rank as a performer.

The bay filly Banaster—Brilliantine and a smart looking chestnut filly by Russell—Ethel T. look like coming to hand early and proving useful. The latter was tried out with some of the SPEEDY SON OF SOLITAIRE II. best of the Bennington colts last fall and was able to hold her own with them.

Sam Doggett has four youngsters at Gravesend, and they make up a rather promising lot. The ex-jockey will train and race the horses in his own colors the coming season.

The best of the lot on looks is a chestnut colt by Hemenue, out of Option. He stands close to sixteen hands high, with good strong shoulders and immense quarters. Few of the bigger stables can show a finer looking juvenile, and if he races up to his appearance he will be heard from in smart company. His yearling trials were satisfactory.

A bay colt by Inspector, B—Balance All II is a rather flashy looking youngster that would attract attention anywhere. He has shown some speed. The chestnut colt by Ben Strome—Charouse and the bay colt by Alloway, out of Laughing Water, should contribute to the success of the stable.

Tim Gaynor, who had such startling success last year with the good filly Whimsical and who introduced the good youngster Disobedient to the turf, will start the season with four juveniles in his string. While it is extremely doubtful that he will show another Whimsical, the youngsters are almost sure to win races if they train without mishap.

The best looking one of the quartet is Sandy Creeker, a chestnut colt by Aloha—Turco. Aloha, with very limited opportunities, has sent some good horses to the races, and there is a great chance that Sandy Creeker will add distinction to the list.

Montie Bay is a bay colt by Albert—Counterbreeze, who is built for speed and should come to hand easily. The bay colt by Bonuerges—Discretion, though rather undersized, is a compactly built fellow that may overcome the handicap as to size. The only filly in the lot is by Plaudt—Star of the West. She, too, is on the small side, but is a trim, clean cut miss and should repay her purchase price and other expenses when rightly placed.

National Meet of Skee Racers

Ishpeming, Mich., Again to Be Scene of Contests. Novel and Exciting Form of Sport Has Many Followers--Record Holders--Ice Boating.

Ishpeming, Mich., is making great preparations for the second meeting of the National Skee association, which is to take place Feb. 22. This date has long been observed by the Ishpeming Skee club, through the enterprise of whose members the national association was created a year ago, and whose first meeting was such a pronounced success.

The president of the national organization, Carl Tellefsen, is an expert rider who made his mark years ago on the famous skee hills of Norway. The treasurer, Simon Wahlman, is also a skilled rider, as well as a maker of skees. Aksel Holter of Ashland, Wis., the secretary, is an enthusiast who is doing much to popularize the sport. George A. Newett, president of the Ishpeming Skee club, whose membership holds the American championship for the longest standing jump, 112 feet 6 inches, as well as the winner of last year's national tournament, is well known in skee circles.

John C. Greenway, a close personal friend of President Roosevelt and a daring rider, is also a member of the club. Last year's course has been greatly improved, made longer, smoother and faster. A great trestle has been erected on top of the hill, while below, on the former incline, miners have blasted out the rock that formerly stood in the way, rendering the run free from obstacles and permitting much greater distances. The angle of descent is about twenty-five degrees, and to ride it requires nerve of the highest order.

Representatives of the famous clubs of Norway and Sweden are to compete for the prizes in the forthcoming trial. Liberal purses are put up, and in addition the solid gold medals will be presented winners of the principal events by private parties. William G. Mather of Cleveland will give several of these valuable trophies, he being an ardent lover of the sport.

The national association now includes the principal clubs of America, all of which are to send their best men. It is hoped the Americans will lead in the jumping, although Norway has some wonderful riders, their record being 130 feet. Ole Westgaard, last year's winner, is practicing steadily, but not on the tournament hill, this not being permitted under the rules. Gustav Bye, holding the record for the long jump, is in Minneapolis and will be ready and fit.

Bumping the bumps, leaping the gap and looping the loop are regarded in Madison, Wis., as ordinary sport in comparison with ice yachting. With a good yacht and a twenty mile wind a speed of over a mile a minute is easily attained. A speed of forty-five miles an hour is regarded as only fair. The record for speed in Madison is held by William P. Barnard, a well known boat builder, who in a regatta here made one leg of the course, which was a distance of one and one-fourth miles, in 51 1/2 seconds.

Mr. Barnard also holds the world's record for ten miles, 16 minutes flat, which he made with Princess I. at Gull lake, Kalamazoo, Mich., two years ago. When it is understood that the occupants of an ice yacht are exposed to the wind and that the boat is liable to turn turtle at any moment if not carefully handled, the fun and danger of the sport may be appreciated.

The sport of ice yachting is well developed in Madison, more so perhaps than at any place in the northwest. On the two big lakes bordering the city there are more than 100 yachts, some of which are owned and operated by the wealthiest residents of the city. A score of the yachts are owned by fraternities and students of the state university, and they furnish more amusement and exercise than the university gymnasium.

FROM ALASKA TO CAPE HORN

Pan-American Railway Projected Which Will Be Greatest of Its Kind.

The gray plover nests in the sedges of Alaska, says E. B. Clark, in the Technical World; and when the short summer wanes, it leads its young in perilous flight southward across plains and mountain ranges and then, guided by the coast-line, wings its way steadily onward until it reaches its winter home in Patagonia. For more than one-half of the immense distance of its migration the flight course of the gray plover is almost coincident with the surveyed line for the projected Pan-American railway, a commercial connection between the northern and southern continents that a few years ago was regarded as the dream of enthusiasts, but which to-day has passed far beyond the realm of visions.

Men whose lives are well behind them will probably live to see the day when they can make an unbroken railway journey from the River Yukon in Alaska to the River Limay in Patagonia. This journey from the north to the south means more than the traveling of an immense distance within a short space of time, though this thought alone is impressive.

It means the passing through alternate cold and heat, moisture and dryness, bare fields and green fields, treeless plains and tropical forests, fertile valleys and sterile mountains; it means acquaintance with men of every hue of skin and of every habit of life. It means the wedding of the ends of earth.

THE KAISER AND BISMARCK

Why Emperor William Dismissed the Greatest Statesman of His Time.

Baron Heckelorn contributes to La Revue a character sketch of the German emperor.

About 15 years ago came the dismissal of Bismarck, and as no one has ever been able to give a satisfactory explanation of the real cause, the baron offers one "hitherto unpublished." It emanates from Dr. Roth, a Swiss diplomatist.

"The federal council," writes Baron Heckelorn, had taken the initiative in proposing an international conference for the protection of labor to be held at Bern in 1890. No sooner did the Kaiser hear of it than he demanded that the conference should meet at Berlin. Bismarck did not approve of the Kaiser's plan, and when all failed, he asked the Swiss ambassador to persuade his government to persist in its original proposal. Whether Dr. Roth did so is not stated, but probably not, as the congress assembled at Berlin in due course.

A few days after the news of the chancellor's visit reached the ears of the Kaiser, who was furious and had a long conversation with the chancellor. This was March 19, and everyone knows Bismarck was dismissed on the 20th. Also, the writer states, the Kaiser not long after presented his portrait to Dr. Roth with the dedication: "To Dr. Roth: A souvenir of March 19, 1890. William, I. R."
